

CSU Channel Islands' Multicultural Dream Center

is happy to launch a Fellowship for Civic Engagement program designed for AB540 students, DACA students, and allies to the undocumented student community.

The program is designed to arm high school and college students with leadership and public speaking skills that will help them advocate for immigrant students. Students will learn public speaking skills and practice researching and advocating for policy change. The goal is for the students to be able to articulate the needs of immigrant students within their secondary and higher education, to their peers, communities and educators.
